If you do not agree to these terms, please do not access or use this Website. Like the Terms of Use, parts of this Website may include more specific or applicable Privacy Policies which will supersede this Privacy Policy to the extent this Privacy Policy conflicts with, or does not address the topics in the specific policy applicable to the services at issue.

1. Types of Information Collected

In order to better provide you with access to our Website, we collect two types of information about our users: Personally Identifiable Information and Non-Personally Identifiable Information. Our primary goal in collecting information from you is to provide you with a smooth, efficient, and customized experience while using our Website.

Personally Identifiable Information refers to information that lets us know the specifics of who you are. When you engage in certain activities on this Website, such as submitting content and/or posting content in discussion forums or other public areas, filling out a survey, or sending us feedback, we may ask you to provide certain information about yourself by filling out and submitting an online form. It is completely optional for you to elect to engage in these activities; however, we may ask that you provide us personal information, such as your first and last name, mailing address (including zip code), E-mail address, telephone numbers, and other personal identifying information. Depending upon the activity, some of the information we ask you to provide is identified as mandatory and some as voluntary. If you do not provide the mandatory data with respect to a particular activity, you will not be able to engage in that activity.

Non-Personally Identifiable Information refers to information that does not by itself identify a specific individual. We gather certain information about you based upon where you visit on our Website in several ways. This information is compiled and analyzed on both a personal and an aggregated basis. This information may include the Website's Uniform Resource Locator ("URL") that you just came from, which URL you next go to, what browser you are using, and your Internet Protocol ("IP") address. A URL is the global address of documents and other resources on the World Wide Web. An IP address is an identifier for a computer or device on a Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol ("TCP/IP") network, such as the World Wide Web. Networks like the internet use the TCP/IP protocol to route information based on the IP address of the destination. In other words, an IP address is a number that is automatically assigned to your computer whenever you are surfing the web, allowing web servers to locate and identify your computer. Computers require IP addresses in order for users to communicate on the Internet.

2. Collection Methods and Use of Information

We do not collect any Personally Identifiable Information about you unless you voluntarily provide it to us. You provide certain Personally Identifiable Information to us through the Website when you: (a) sign up for special offers from selected third parties; or (b) send E-mail messages, submit forms, or transmit other information by telephone or letter to the contact information shown on the Website. We will use such information to provide our business services, the Website, and to do our own marketing, including, newsletters, text messages, or other interactions from us. Our marketing efforts may involve the use of third party service providers, programs, or cloud based systems to whom we may provide your Personally Identifiable Information as a part of utilizing their systems or services for our purposes.

In addition, we may also collect, or our third-party ad provider and/or content provider may collect, certain Non-Personally Identifiable Information. This information is ultimately stored in the form of store categories, and, in some cases, specific URLs. We use your IP address to diagnose problems with our servers, and software, to administer our Website, and to gather demographic information. Third-party ad servers may also provide us with summary, but not individual, reports that will tell us how many ads were presented and clicked upon at our Website. We will not provide your Personally Identifiable Information or information about your purchases to third party ad providers. We and any third party ad provider will collect and use Non-Personally Identifiable Information about you, such as your IP address, browser type, the server your computer is logged onto, the area code and zip code associated with your server and whether you responded to a particular ad. Other advertisers may also place banner ads on our Website in the same manner as above, but we will not disclose any Personally Identifiable Information to them.

We will primarily use your Personally Identifiable Information to engage with you directly, but may also use the information to enhance the operation of our Website, fill orders, improve our marketing and promotional efforts, statistically analyze Website use, improve our product and service offerings, or customize our Website's content, layout, and services. We may use Personally Identifiable Information to deliver information to you and to contact you regarding administrative notices, newsletters, or to provide reviews of our services. We may also use Personally Identifiable Information to resolve disputes, troubleshoot problems and enforce our agreements with you, including our Website Terms of Use, and this Privacy Policy.
